VICTOR MURDOCK COMING HERE

Great Progressive to Lecture in Clearfield

WILL BE HERE NOVEMbER 14

Prominent Congressional Orator and Insurgant is an Interesting Talker —Lecture Will be Under the Auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the Lyceum Course.

The floor leader of the Progressives in congress and their candidate for speaker of the house will lecture here when Hon. Victor Murdock of Kansas, known as "the original insurgent," fills his engagement.

Murdock, who is red-headed and big and courageous, first received national attention when he brought about a saving of $5,000,000 a year by insisting on a change in the rules for weighing the mails, and later when he insisted on a change in rules in the house of representatives when Cannon was speaker. And it was the fight started by Murdock that finally ousted Cannon. He fought Cannon when no one else dared. Of course, the steam roller, which was working very well indeed, in those days, was run over him but he carried his fight direct to the people on the Chautauqua and Lyceum platform and then insurgency grew into the progressive movement and finally into a third party in which Murdock is one of the acknowledged leaders.

A Washington newspaper correspondent once characterized Murdock in this manner:

"Murdock is built like a football tackle, with a sunflower attachment. Which is appropriate, since Kansas is the Sunflower state. Murdock has leather lungs, a gift of sarcasm and a drawling delivery which seems to rub the acid of his words into the scars left on the regulars by his performances. After Murdock makes a speech 'Uncle Joe' loses regularly at poker for a week.

"Murdock is a satirist by nature. His method is to get the loud laugh on the old shams, which makes the old shams furious. They shiver at the first sound of Murdock's drawling tones. This is the unforgivable crime of Victor Murdock. It is this trick of his which causes the 'Old Guard' to denounce him as a more 'dangerous' man than LaFollette. Indeed, Aldrich delights to cross stings with the Wisconsin wasp in private conversation. But Murdock—well, that is another matter."

Victor Murdock will open the Clearfield Lyceum course in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday, November 14, under the auspices of the association and every citizen of this town should hear him. Admission to the Murdock lecture, 75 and 50 cents. Course tickets, admitting to the six events of the course, $2. Persons are advised to buy course tickets, as being the cheaper method of hearing the distinguished speakers and the excellent music on the program.

BOLD SUNDAY NIGHT ROBBERY AT PENFIELD

Thieves Loot the Store of Johnson & Overdorf

The store of Johnson & Overdorf, at Penfield, was entered sometime Sunday night and a large amount of goods taken away, presumably in a wagon. The burglars entered the store by a window and removed the goods in the same manner. A heavy snow storm Sunday night prevented the thieves from being discovered.

The cash drawer was broken open and about $6 taken therefrom, and shoes, showcase articles, caps and other goods were stolen. The Johnson & Overdorf store is the largest one in Penfield. The owners have not yet ascertained the full extent of their loss. There is no clew to the robbers.

Dr. F. D. Leipold, dentist, will be absent from his office until November 17. Nov. 9. 6t.

NO TIME LIMIT IS SET FOR HUERTA

President Wilson Denies the Published Reports.

NO MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

President Not Ready to Discuss Recognition of Insurgents—Comment on Huerta's Latest Statement—Official Text of Statement to Diplomats in Mexico City Not Received.

Washington, Nov. 11.—President Wilson discussed the Mexican situation and cleared the atmosphere of many reports as to the intentions of the United States. He made it clear that he had no intention at present of addressing congress because the situation was not in shape for him to have any thing to say, and, while certain representations had been made to the Huerta government, no reply had been received. He declared that no time limit had been set for a reply from Huerta.

The president told inquirers that he was not ready to discuss recognition of the Constitutionalists and that his opposition to raising the embargo on arms had not been changed.

The text of the statement given to the diplomatic corps at midnight on Saturday by President Huerta had not been cabled here by the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy. The charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy here received a copy. It is suggested here that perhaps Mr O'Shaughnessy did not attend the meeting of the diplomatic corps, as he is not accredited to the Huerta government.

Informal comment on Huerta's statement, however, emphasized that while the elections of the president and vice president were to be declared null and void Huerta intended to consider the election of congress valid. By the Washington government that is regarded as an inconsistency of which foreign nations must take cognizance, and the impression prevailed that the repudiation of all acts of the new congress would be forthcoming by the United States.

The president made it plain the foreign governments had been fully advised within the last week of the steps taken by the United States, but that the future policy of this government was dependent on further developments.

In discussing the Mexican situation with newspaper men the president spoke especially against reports representing the situation as more serious than it really is. Sensational reports, the president pointed out, embarrassed the task of the administration, especially when those reports predicted moves in advance of action by the administration.

EXPECT WILSON NOTE.

Believe They Will Hear From United States on Mexico Very Soon.

Paris, Nov. 11.—From a high official source it was learned that the European powers expect a note from the United States at once, outlining the Wilson administration's Mexican policy.

It was said that none of the powers will agree to support the United States until Europe knows the exact nature of President Wilson's Mexican plans. The powers do not desire to give Washington a free hand. It was said. If the United States will give the European governments certain assurances they will then consent to the enforced retirement of General Huerta.

It is the general opinion here that not only England but all Europe is friendly to Huerta.

MISSING GIRL FOUND

Falls Creek Lassie Disguised Herself as a Boy.

Miss Elizabeth Virginia Stratton the Falls Creek girl who disappeared from her home Monday night, has been found at New Bethlehem. The girl dressed herself in her brother's clothes and started out to see the world. She walked as far as Summerville, Jefferson county, that night and slept under a lumber pile, going to New Bethlehem the next day. There she found employment in a fire clay, brick works,

Miss Stratton's father started in search of her and through a telephon lineman who knew the girl found that she was in New Bethlehem. Saturday evening the girl's brother went to New Bethlehem and took her back to Falls Creek. Miss Stratton has evidently seen all of the world she cares to visit, especially as wheeling brick is just a little too strenuous work for a young woman in her teens.

HOW EDWARD CURRAN MET HIS DEATH

Struck by Descending Elevator in Williamsport

Particulars of the fatal accident which befell Edward Curran, of Williamsport, brother of Mrs. H. S. Whiteman, of Clearfield ,are found in the Williamsport newspapers. The following is the report of the affair, taken from the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin:

A sad accident occurred Saturday morning at the new High school building, when Edward Curran, aged 35 years lost his life. No one is blamed for the accident which occurred so suddenly that it was unavoidale.

Mr. Curran was on the second floor of the building and had leaned over the elevator shaft to shout a message to workmen below. Evidently he thought that the elevator was on the ground floor. It was above him however, and unfortunately just as Curran was talking to the men below a workman on the third floor signalled to the engineer on the ground to lower the elevator by letting out the cable.

The heavy car came down like a shot and caught Mr. Curran on the back of the neck, throwing him onto the platform. Death must have been instantaneous. Coroner Albert F. Hardt was summoned and after an investigation had the dead man taken to his home No. 725 Center street.

Mr. Curran is survived by his mother and three sisters: Mrs.Frank Breese and Mrs. Theodore Bennet, of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Horace S. Weightman, of Clearfield. He was aged 35 years, and was well known.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

GARRISON TELLS OF TRIP TO CANAL

War Secretary and Party Back From Isthmus.

"BIG DITCH IS PERFECT."

Huge Gatun Locks Work Like a Charm, He Says—Refused to Discuss Mexican Situation and Hastens to Washington For Conference With Wilson—His Impression of Panama.

New York, Nov. 11. — Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison and his party returned from their visit to the Panama canal. Mr. Garrison said that "everything was lovely" on the isthmus and told of a trip through the canal from the Atlantic end as far as the Cucaracha slide in the Culebra cut.

The party included besides Secretary and Mrs. Garrison, General Edward M. Weaver, chief of the coast artillery; William Pedigo, Mr. Garrison's private secretary; Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh and Mrs. George Leary, who were guests of Mrs. Garrison. They left here on the Colon three weeks ago.

Made Trip on "Clapet."

Mr. Garrison said that the trip through the canal was a wonderful experience, the voyage being made on board one of the working vessels known as a clapet. One of the ladies interrupted to say that this was not a dahabeah nor a steam trawler, but just a clapet.

"The canal seems finished," said Mr. Garrison. "We went through the great Gatun locks, the gates swinging for us as if they had been working for years. Then we slipped through into Gatun lake and finally into the wonderful Culebra cut.

"Think of it! We were sailing through a mountain, so to speak. The sides towered above our little boat, and we thought how many years and brave men it had taken to complete the cut. We went as far as the Cucaracha slide, which, as you probably know, is only two miles from the locks on the Pacific side."

Secretary Garrison would not impart any views on the Mexican situation even to Vice President Edward Drake of the Panama line, who met the ship at Quarantine. He said he would hurry to Washington to consult with President Wilson on the subject.

General Weaver said he had inspected the fortifications of the canal and that the work was proceeding satisfactorily. He will make his report at the war department.

PROGRESSIVES GROWING

An analysis of the vote cast in the several states on Tuesday of last week gives great encouragement to the Progressive party. In a number of the states the Progressives made gains, while in none of them did the party lose. In Massachusetts the returns from the election show that Progressivism is growing at a rapid rate in that state, the Progressive party polling more votes this year than it did in 1912, the gain being four thousand and sixty-five. The Republican loss in that state was twenty-seven thousand two hundred and eighty-three, while the Democrat lost twelve thousand eight hundred and sixteen.

In New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana the Progressives elected majors in a number of cities, while the Progressive sentiment induced both Republicans and Democrats in many states to place in nomination good men rather than old party hacks. Surely this election news ought to be pleasing to those voters who support the principles of the Progressive party and who know that here is no hope for good government except through the operation of the policies of the Progressive party. This kind of news should have the effect of causing every voter who believes in honest government and the advancement of the people's cause to rally to the Progressive party.

Pennsylvania remains the keystone in the building in which Progressivism is nurtured and from which it will emerge in the near future to sweep before it the two old and discredited political organizations which have generally united to defeat the wishes of the people. In Pennsylvania the Progressive voters who so staunchly stood by the national ticket last year will give their undivided support to the candidate for United States senator who will contest with Senator Penrose next year for the United States senatorship from the Keystone state. It would be a serious reflection upon the intelligence of the voters who voted for Roosevelt and Johnson to believe that they have repented of their action and are ready to return to either of the two old political parties.

More than four million voters indorsed the principles and policies of the Progressive party in 1912. The party has not abandoned any of these principles and policies, but has, through its leaders and speakers, given greater emphasis to the need of the reforms demandd by the party founded by Colonel Roosevelt and other men who became disgusted at the methods of the political tricksters who had gained control of the Pepublican party and used that party to advance their own selfish purposes. No man who voted the Progressive ticket last year has any reason for refusing to continue to vote for political liberty and against political degeneration, therefore the Progressives of Pennsylvania and especially those in Clearfield county are expected to remain loyal to the party which promises the people honest government and relief from oppression in succeeding years.

A PUBLIC LIBRARY.

At a meeting of the members of the Women's club on Saturday, after listening to an address on the need of a public library in Clearfield, it was decided to organize an association which will have charge of organizing a library in this town. There was considerable enthusiasm manifested at this meeting, and the women who inaugurated the movement hope that the citizens will unite with them in bringing about the establishment of a free library in Clearfield.

I is doubtful if there is an intelligent citizen of Clearfield who does not agree with the Woman's club that this town needs a public library, therefore it is most likely that there will be little difficulty in persuading the citizens to contribute either money or books to the association when a suitable place for the location of a library shall have been found. Strangers coming to Clearfield have been surprised to learn that there is no public library in this town. With the wealth and intelligence to be found in Clearfield it is remarkable that the citizens have for so long permitted the matter of providing a public library for the use of the people and the education of children of the town to remain unattended to, but now that the Women's club has taken the project into their hands the establishment of a public library will undoubtedly be brought about.

In the west veteran hunters give nimrods notice that if the latter shoot other hunters in mistake for game there will be some shooting back. A rule of this kind in other states would lessen the number of men who are killed by the fool behind the gun each year.

Somehow or other the two old political parties have failed to become hilarious over the vote of the Progressives in various states of the union on Tuesday of last week.

The first snow was merely a reminder that Christmas is coming. Do your holiday buying early.

Join the public library movement.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

It is little wonder that the Bulgarians rose up in their wrath when "The Chocolate Soldier" came forth to make big audiences over America and continental Europe laugh at the bombastic ideas of war and warlike methods "The Chocolate Soldier," who admits frankly that he carried chocolate creams in his cartridge box because he never intends to find use for bullets, and who says that he stays out of battle that he may live to draw a salary throughout the war is equalled by the pompous Alexius at the head of the Bulgarian cavalry, who made a victorious charge against the enemy because his horse ran away with him and he was carried into the thick of battle with heroic feelings surging up within him as soon as he found the enemy could not fire a shot It is a matter of history that the Bulgarian government made objection to these ideas but the great wave of amusement that has gone up over the civilized world over 'The Chocolate Soldier' which come to the New Opera House Thursday evening had the effect of making the little Balkan nation appear even more ridiculous in its protest which was soon withdrawn Seats on sale tomorrow Special show train from Osceola on the P R R

BEILIS ACQUITTED OF RITUAL MURDER

Verdict Returned by Jury After a Short Time.

JEWS PRAYED FOR ACCUSED

Verdict of Guilty Was Expected. Troops on Guard as Riot Mob Fills Town—Closing Scenes at Trial—Government Thought to Have Controlled Jurors Through Foreman.

Kiev, Russia Nov 11—Mendel Beilis was acquitted by the jury on the charge of murdering Andrew Yushinsky, a boy, in March, 1911

Not since the Kishineff massacre has the civilized world been so thoroughly aroused over the attitude of the Russian government toward its Jewish subjects as since the beginning of the trial of Mendel Beilis Several world powers, including the United States and Germany the Roman Catholic church and other influential religious denominations have figured more or less prominently in this celebrated trial of the Jewish peasant

In the halls of many state legislatures, in the upper and lower houses of congress and from the pulpits of many churches of all creeds voices have been raised in denunciation of the persecution of innocent Jews by the Russian government The papal secretary of the pope made it as plain as he could in diplomatic language that the Roman Catholic church was not in sympathy with the persecution of this friendless peasant of a persecuted race

At the last session of the court hearing of the "ritual murder" case the defendant, Mendel Beilis, was asked by the presiding judge if he desired to make any statement

"I should like to say many things' Bellis answered quietly, "but I am too ill and tired I want to go home to my wife and children You can see for yourself that I am innocent"

Part of the sitting of the court was devoted to counsels' replies to previous speeches, in accordance with the Russian legal custom, which permits replies and counter replies without end

The prosecutor made another speech describing Counsel Grusenberg, for the defense, as a man catching at straws He admitted, however that the role played by Vera Tcheberiak was a strange one and that she possibly participated in the crime

In his speech Lawyer Grusenberg said he was convinced of the guilt of Vera Tcheberiaks band of criminals adding

"All roads of the evidence have led to Vera Tcheberiak and not to the brick works where Beilis was employed

New York, Nov. 11.—While hundreds of persons were passing over the new Broadway-Lexington avenue subway at Broadway and Waverly place two men who were working in the excavation were buried alive and then killed by the collapsing of a platform containing several tons of dirt.

VICTOR MURDOCK COMING HERE

Great Progressive to Lecture in Clearfield

WILL BE HERE NOVEMbER 14

Prominent Congressional Orator and Insurgant is an Interesting Talker —Lecture Will be Under the Auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the Lyceum Course.

The floor leader of the Progressives in congress and their candidate for speaker of the house will lecture here when Hon. Victor Murdock of Kansas, known as "the original insurgent," fills his engagement.

Murdock, who is red-headed and big and courageous, first received national attention when he brought about a saving of $5,000,000 a year by insisting on a change in the rules for weighing the mails, and later when he insisted on a change in rules in the house of representatives when Cannon was speaker. And it was the fight started by Murdock that finally ousted Cannon. He fought Cannon when no one else dared. Of course, the steam roller, which was working very well indeed, in those days, was run over him but he carried his fight direct to the people on the Chautauqua and Lyceum platform and then insurgency grew into the progressive movement and finally into a third party in which Murdock is one of the acknowledged leaders.

A Washington newspaper correspondent once characterized Murdock in this manner:

"Murdock is built like a football tackle, with a sunflower attachment. Which is appropriate, since Kansas is the Sunflower state. Murdock has leather lungs, a gift of sarcasm and a drawling delivery which seems to rub the acid of his words into the scars left on the regulars by his performances. After Murdock makes a speech 'Uncle Joe' loses regularly at poker for a week.

"Murdock is a satirist by nature. His method is to get the loud laugh on the old shams, which makes the old shams furious. They shiver at the first sound of Murdock's drawling tones. This is the unforgivable crime of Victor Murdock. It is this trick of his which causes the 'Old Guard' to denounce him as a more 'dangerous' man than LaFollette. Indeed, Aldrich delights to cross stings with the Wisconsin wasp in private conversation. But Murdock—well, that is another matter."

Victor Murdock will open the Clearfield Lyceum course in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday, November 14, under the auspices of the association and every citizen of this town should hear him. Admission to the Murdock lecture, 75 and 50 cents. Course tickets, admitting to the six events of the course, $2. Persons are advised to buy course tickets, as being the cheaper method of hearing the distinguished speakers and the excellent music on the program.

BOLD SUNDAY NIGHT ROBBERY AT PENFIELD

Thieves Loot the Store of Johnson & Overdorf

The store of Johnson & Overdorf, at Penfield, was entered sometime Sunday night and a large amount of goods taken away, presumably in a wagon. The burglars entered the store by a window and removed the goods in the same manner. A heavy snow storm Sunday night prevented the thieves from being discovered.

The cash drawer was broken open and about $6 taken therefrom, and shoes, showcase articles, caps and other goods were stolen. The Johnson & Overdorf store is the largest one in Penfield. The owners have not yet ascertained the full extent of their loss. There is no clew to the robbers.

Dr. F. D. Leipold, dentist, will be absent from his office until November 17. Nov. 9. 6t.

NO TIME LIMIT IS SET FOR HUERTA

President Wilson Denies the Published Reports.

NO MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

President Not Ready to Discuss Recognition of Insurgents—Comment on Huerta's Latest Statement—Official Text of Statement to Diplomats in Mexico City Not Received.

Washington, Nov. 11.—President Wilson discussed the Mexican situation and cleared the atmosphere of many reports as to the intentions of the United States. He made it clear that he had no intention at present of addressing congress because the situation was not in shape for him to have any thing to say, and, while certain representations had been made to the Huerta government, no reply had been received. He declared that no time limit had been set for a reply from Huerta.

The president told inquirers that he was not ready to discuss recognition of the Constitutionalists and that his opposition to raising the embargo on arms had not been changed.

The text of the statement given to the diplomatic corps at midnight on Saturday by President Huerta had not been cabled here by the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy. The charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy here received a copy. It is suggested here that perhaps Mr O'Shaughnessy did not attend the meeting of the diplomatic corps, as he is not accredited to the Huerta government.

Informal comment on Huerta's statement, however, emphasized that while the elections of the president and vice president were to be declared null and void Huerta intended to consider the election of congress valid. By the Washington government that is regarded as an inconsistency of which foreign nations must take cognizance, and the impression prevailed that the repudiation of all acts of the new congress would be forthcoming by the United States.

The president made it plain the foreign governments had been fully advised within the last week of the steps taken by the United States, but that the future policy of this government was dependent on further developments.

In discussing the Mexican situation with newspaper men the president spoke especially against reports representing the situation as more serious than it really is. Sensational reports, the president pointed out, embarrassed the task of the administration, especially when those reports predicted moves in advance of action by the administration.

EXPECT WILSON NOTE.

Believe They Will Hear From United States on Mexico Very Soon.

Paris, Nov. 11.—From a high official source it was learned that the European powers expect a note from the United States at once, outlining the Wilson administration's Mexican policy.

It was said that none of the powers will agree to support the United States until Europe knows the exact nature of President Wilson's Mexican plans. The powers do not desire to give Washington a free hand. It was said. If the United States will give the European governments certain assurances they will then consent to the enforced retirement of General Huerta.

It is the general opinion here that not only England but all Europe is friendly to Huerta.

MISSING GIRL FOUND

Falls Creek Lassie Disguised Herself as a Boy.

Miss Elizabeth Virginia Stratton the Falls Creek girl who disappeared from her home Monday night, has been found at New Bethlehem. The girl dressed herself in her brother's clothes and started out to see the world. She walked as far as Summerville, Jefferson county, that night and slept under a lumber pile, going to New Bethlehem the next day. There she found employment in a fire clay, brick works,

Miss Stratton's father started in search of her and through a telephon lineman who knew the girl found that she was in New Bethlehem. Saturday evening the girl's brother went to New Bethlehem and took her back to Falls Creek. Miss Stratton has evidently seen all of the world she cares to visit, especially as wheeling brick is just a little too strenuous work for a young woman in her teens.

HOW EDWARD CURRAN MET HIS DEATH

Struck by Descending Elevator in Williamsport

Particulars of the fatal accident which befell Edward Curran, of Williamsport, brother of Mrs. H. S. Whiteman, of Clearfield ,are found in the Williamsport newspapers. The following is the report of the affair, taken from the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin:

A sad accident occurred Saturday morning at the new High school building, when Edward Curran, aged 35 years lost his life. No one is blamed for the accident which occurred so suddenly that it was unavoidale.

Mr. Curran was on the second floor of the building and had leaned over the elevator shaft to shout a message to workmen below. Evidently he thought that the elevator was on the ground floor. It was above him however, and unfortunately just as Curran was talking to the men below a workman on the third floor signalled to the engineer on the ground to lower the elevator by letting out the cable.

The heavy car came down like a shot and caught Mr. Curran on the back of the neck, throwing him onto the platform. Death must have been instantaneous. Coroner Albert F. Hardt was summoned and after an investigation had the dead man taken to his home No. 725 Center street.

Mr. Curran is survived by his mother and three sisters: Mrs.Frank Breese and Mrs. Theodore Bennet, of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Horace S. Weightman, of Clearfield. He was aged 35 years, and was well known.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

GARRISON TELLS OF TRIP TO CANAL

War Secretary and Party Back From Isthmus.

"BIG DITCH IS PERFECT."

Huge Gatun Locks Work Like a Charm, He Says—Refused to Discuss Mexican Situation and Hastens to Washington For Conference With Wilson—His Impression of Panama.

New York, Nov. 11. — Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison and his party returned from their visit to the Panama canal. Mr. Garrison said that "everything was lovely" on the isthmus and told of a trip through the canal from the Atlantic end as far as the Cucaracha slide in the Culebra cut.

The party included besides Secretary and Mrs. Garrison, General Edward M. Weaver, chief of the coast artillery; William Pedigo, Mr. Garrison's private secretary; Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh and Mrs. George Leary, who were guests of Mrs. Garrison. They left here on the Colon three weeks ago.

Made Trip on "Clapet."

Mr. Garrison said that the trip through the canal was a wonderful experience, the voyage being made on board one of the working vessels known as a clapet. One of the ladies interrupted to say that this was not a dahabeah nor a steam trawler, but just a clapet.

"The canal seems finished," said Mr. Garrison. "We went through the great Gatun locks, the gates swinging for us as if they had been working for years. Then we slipped through into Gatun lake and finally into the wonderful Culebra cut.

"Think of it! We were sailing through a mountain, so to speak. The sides towered above our little boat, and we thought how many years and brave men it had taken to complete the cut. We went as far as the Cucaracha slide, which, as you probably know, is only two miles from the locks on the Pacific side."

Secretary Garrison would not impart any views on the Mexican situation even to Vice President Edward Drake of the Panama line, who met the ship at Quarantine. He said he would hurry to Washington to consult with President Wilson on the subject.

General Weaver said he had inspected the fortifications of the canal and that the work was proceeding satisfactorily. He will make his report at the war department.

PROGRESSIVES GROWING

An analysis of the vote cast in the several states on Tuesday of last week gives great encouragement to the Progressive party. In a number of the states the Progressives made gains, while in none of them did the party lose. In Massachusetts the returns from the election show that Progressivism is growing at a rapid rate in that state, the Progressive party polling more votes this year than it did in 1912, the gain being four thousand and sixty-five. The Republican loss in that state was twenty-seven thousand two hundred and eighty-three, while the Democrat lost twelve thousand eight hundred and sixteen.

In New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana the Progressives elected majors in a number of cities, while the Progressive sentiment induced both Republicans and Democrats in many states to place in nomination good men rather than old party hacks. Surely this election news ought to be pleasing to those voters who support the principles of the Progressive party and who know that here is no hope for good government except through the operation of the policies of the Progressive party. This kind of news should have the effect of causing every voter who believes in honest government and the advancement of the people's cause to rally to the Progressive party.

Pennsylvania remains the keystone in the building in which Progressivism is nurtured and from which it will emerge in the near future to sweep before it the two old and discredited political organizations which have generally united to defeat the wishes of the people. In Pennsylvania the Progressive voters who so staunchly stood by the national ticket last year will give their undivided support to the candidate for United States senator who will contest with Senator Penrose next year for the United States senatorship from the Keystone state. It would be a serious reflection upon the intelligence of the voters who voted for Roosevelt and Johnson to believe that they have repented of their action and are ready to return to either of the two old political parties.

More than four million voters indorsed the principles and policies of the Progressive party in 1912. The party has not abandoned any of these principles and policies, but has, through its leaders and speakers, given greater emphasis to the need of the reforms demandd by the party founded by Colonel Roosevelt and other men who became disgusted at the methods of the political tricksters who had gained control of the Pepublican party and used that party to advance their own selfish purposes. No man who voted the Progressive ticket last year has any reason for refusing to continue to vote for political liberty and against political degeneration, therefore the Progressives of Pennsylvania and especially those in Clearfield county are expected to remain loyal to the party which promises the people honest government and relief from oppression in succeeding years.

A PUBLIC LIBRARY.

At a meeting of the members of the Women's club on Saturday, after listening to an address on the need of a public library in Clearfield, it was decided to organize an association which will have charge of organizing a library in this town. There was considerable enthusiasm manifested at this meeting, and the women who inaugurated the movement hope that the citizens will unite with them in bringing about the establishment of a free library in Clearfield.

I is doubtful if there is an intelligent citizen of Clearfield who does not agree with the Woman's club that this town needs a public library, therefore it is most likely that there will be little difficulty in persuading the citizens to contribute either money or books to the association when a suitable place for the location of a library shall have been found. Strangers coming to Clearfield have been surprised to learn that there is no public library in this town. With the wealth and intelligence to be found in Clearfield it is remarkable that the citizens have for so long permitted the matter of providing a public library for the use of the people and the education of children of the town to remain unattended to, but now that the Women's club has taken the project into their hands the establishment of a public library will undoubtedly be brought about.

In the west veteran hunters give nimrods notice that if the latter shoot other hunters in mistake for game there will be some shooting back. A rule of this kind in other states would lessen the number of men who are killed by the fool behind the gun each year.

Somehow or other the two old political parties have failed to become hilarious over the vote of the Progressives in various states of the union on Tuesday of last week.

The first snow was merely a reminder that Christmas is coming. Do your holiday buying early.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

It is little wonder that the Bulgarians rose up in their wrath when "The Chocolate Soldier" came forth to make big audiences over America and continental Europe laugh at the bombastic ideas of war and warlike methods "The Chocolate Soldier," who admits frankly that he carried chocolate creams in his cartridge box because he never intends to find use for bullets, and who says that he stays out of battle that he may live to draw a salary throughout the war is equalled by the pompous Alexius at the head of the Bulgarian cavalry, who made a victorious charge against the enemy because his horse ran away with him and he was carried into the thick of battle with heroic feelings surging up within him as soon as he found the enemy could not fire a shot It is a matter of history that the Bulgarian government made objection to these ideas but the great wave of amusement that has gone up over the civilized world over 'The Chocolate Soldier' which come to the New Opera House Thursday evening had the effect of making the little Balkan nation appear even more ridiculous in its protest which was soon withdrawn Seats on sale tomorrow Special show train from Osceola on the P R R

BEILIS ACQUITTED OF RITUAL MURDER

Verdict Returned by Jury After a Short Time.

JEWS PRAYED FOR ACCUSED

Verdict of Guilty Was Expected. Troops on Guard as Riot Mob Fills Town—Closing Scenes at Trial—Government Thought to Have Controlled Jurors Through Foreman.

Kiev, Russia Nov 11—Mendel Beilis was acquitted by the jury on the charge of murdering Andrew Yushinsky, a boy, in March, 1911

Not since the Kishineff massacre has the civilized world been so thoroughly aroused over the attitude of the Russian government toward its Jewish subjects as since the beginning of the trial of Mendel Beilis Several world powers, including the United States and Germany the Roman Catholic church and other influential religious denominations have figured more or less prominently in this celebrated trial of the Jewish peasant

In the halls of many state legislatures, in the upper and lower houses of congress and from the pulpits of many churches of all creeds voices have been raised in denunciation of the persecution of innocent Jews by the Russian government The papal secretary of the pope made it as plain as he could in diplomatic language that the Roman Catholic church was not in sympathy with the persecution of this friendless peasant of a persecuted race

At the last session of the court hearing of the "ritual murder" case the defendant, Mendel Beilis, was asked by the presiding judge if he desired to make any statement

"I should like to say many things' Bellis answered quietly, "but I am too ill and tired I want to go home to my wife and children You can see for yourself that I am innocent"

Part of the sitting of the court was devoted to counsels' replies to previous speeches, in accordance with the Russian legal custom, which permits replies and counter replies without end

The prosecutor made another speech describing Counsel Grusenberg, for the defense, as a man catching at straws He admitted, however that the role played by Vera Tcheberiak was a strange one and that she possibly participated in the crime

In his speech Lawyer Grusenberg said he was convinced of the guilt of Vera Tcheberiaks band of criminals adding

"All roads of the evidence have led to Vera Tcheberiak and not to the brick works where Beilis was employed
